Girl Power Invites Techie Kids to Participate in Annual Event
Visit Our Booth at Girl Power's It Takes a Village Conference

Miami, FL (March 3, 2011) – Techie Kids has been invited to participate in the 7th Annual “It Takes a Village” Conference hosted by Girl Power, a World Literacy Crusade of Florida program. This year’s conference theme in Pay It Forward and Techie Kids will be there to share in this concept as well as introduce our program to the community.

Girl Power introduced the “It Takes a Village” Conference to Miami over seven years ago. Its concept came from the old African proverb that suggests, “It take a village to keep our communities safe, protected and spiritually grounded.” Since then, the conference has grown. Girl Power, along with their community partners and supporters, will celebrate and elevate the Liberty City community through workshops, performances, demonstrations and showcasing the arts and crafts of local vendors.

For more information on our participation in this annual event, contact Sherri Jones at (786) 222-4943.
